

Engaging Adult Learners Through Multiple Intelligences

Workshop Description

Presenter - Constant Hine

This workshop will help people who present information to adult learners learn how to plan for and present their content using Howard Gardner's theory of Multiple Intelligences. We will review the 8 multiple intelligences and how this systematic approach effectively meets the diverse needs of adult learners. Participants will learn by experiencing the practical strategies as they will be demonstrated and modeled throughout this session.

Participants will learn:

- how to link Howard Gardner's theory of Multiple Intelligences to practical strategies for engaging adult learners.
- practical presentation and instructional strategies and tools for teaching and meeting diverse needs of adult learners.
